Uniform Exchange

The old adage "waste not, want not" is an excellent way to describe the uniform exchange. In an attempt to reduce the cost of buying uniforms, and to keep good clothes from going to waste, school parents have developed an informal uniform exchange. Each year at our "Welcome Back" Ice-cream Social parents bring in school clothes that their children have outgrown but are still in good condition. Families are then welcome to "shop" for some new uniforms. The clothes that are left over after the exchange are stored at the school where they are available anytime to parents who may need them.
